

Thought, Then Action

AS a man thinketh so he is. Here at college the thoughts of the students should equal the standard of college minds. The working of an individual's consciousness is registered in others by his action and behavior. If college students are to think as voluminously as they should, they must be allowed range of action. Thinking is primarily for action. Too much thinking and too little action is dangerous. The present day college system must provide for the overflow of mental energy. Action should be encouraged. A visit to the sources of our social problems provides material with which to act. All of our time should not be spent in theory. There is the practical problem. This college should take a stand in the community and state as a school whose students are returning to the benefits of society some of the things which they receive.

Resident Schools

THE DEAN of Princeton says that colleges should provide for the students to live on the campus. Santa Ana college is under a handicap in this regard. The students live away from the campus, most of them at home. The home influence is good. College influence is better for the developing mind. Too many times the student fails to enter college life because of his earlier local ties. Things go wrong at school during the day, at night the home atmosphere soothes. This does not make for independence. A good portion of the benefits of college come from the separation from the old associates and companions. New acquaintances on a new level make a new atmosphere.

Political Graft

THE LATEST development of the Boulder Dam issue shows the tendency of the political forces in this country. No legislation may be enacted unless it meets with the approval with the big moneyed interests of the country. The Boulder Dam was killed in this session of the Senate because of moneyed interests here in Southern California. Their whole strength lies in their organized efforts. Lobbyists are on location at the Capitol rendering every throw of the dice to their favor. The people of Imperial Valley and others who would be benefited throughout the southland are defeated despite the manipulation of their representatives to this nation's cancerous growth which because of inefficiency is eating at the very vitals of the nation and the policies on which it stands.

WILL HONOR SYSTEM WORK OUT REPORTER ASKS

E. M. Nealley, Mabel Whiting, And L. L. Beeman Give Their Opinions

Interviews with three members of the faculty disclosed unqualified approval of the honor system from one, and doubt as to its success from the other two.

Mr. Nealley stated: "I am much in sympathy with the honor system. It forms a habit of being honest and if students are honest in school, they will be honest in life. Habit is the fundamental principle of experience. Colleges 'sell' standing and diplomas which certify that the student has done the work. Cheating means that standing has been stolen."

Mr. Beeman, in expressing his opinion said: "Although I have never been in a school where it has actually been tried, I do not favor it in general. I feel that if students will not be absolutely honest with a teacher in the room who puts them on their honor and makes no effort to watch, they will not be honest with the teacher out of the room when they are on their honor. I have found that it's when I put students on their honor, that they cheat the most. I think that there is a higher type of relationship between student and teacher if they have absolute confidence in each other, and work together."

Miss Whiting gave as her opinion: "I think the honor system is a fine thing where there is strong student sentiment to support it, but it needs that. But I doubt whether it could be made strong enough in two years. However I think it would be worth trying."

Famous Orchestra Will Give Concert In Auditorium

The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles will give a concert in Santa Ana March 29 in the high school auditorium.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the program for the benefit of the Boys Chorus.

This huge body of musicians which has delighted Santa Ana audiences many times promises a splendid program. Many noted famous musicians will appear with the orchestra when it gives its entertainment.

The Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra is lead by Henry Rothwell, who has been its conductor for the past seven years.

SNAP SHOT DAY TO BE HELD AGAIN

Another snap shot day to procure pictures of students about the campus for publication in the Algal, college year book, may be held this week, Lois Green, snap-shot editor, announced today. The unfavorable weather during the last week has made the "birdie" business difficult.

Although the "dead line" when snaps are supposed to be in to the editor was last Monday, a extension of the time was being urged.

GOLDEN-GLINT DAVID LEADS IN CONTEST

Near Rivals Threaten to Pass Him in Close Beauty Contest

Leading in an extremely close race, David Ross had an enormous total of 210 votes in the men's beauty contest, Golden Glint Shampoo of which organization he is the fair representative sent him a telegram which said: "Good for you, fair cavalier. Keep it up."

Hendrik Van Rensselaer was second with 197 votes. He is representing the Kiss Proof Lip Stick company. In all probability he would be first in the race, but for the fact that he smears the lip stick a little when he uses it. The company is going to send a special make-up mstr to aid him in winning the contest.

Lloyd Morris, representing the Listerine Company, was third. He had 180 votes Monday evening. When interviewed he remarked blushing. "Oh, it is a mope nothing. You know I was Mr. Toonerville in the National Beauty Contest once, and I was the victor. I was then crowned Mr. America."

Peter Twist and Clarence Trickley were next in line with 139 and 135 votes respectively. Pete is the lovely blonde representing Prince Albert (Continued on Page Three)

Coming Confab Of Y. M. and Y. W. Held at Whittier

A. Bruce Leads the Groups When Southern Colleges Assemble

The Y. M.-Y. W. student conference will be held this year at Whittier, March 19 and 20. Whittier college, La Verne, University of Redlands, and all the junior colleges of Southern California will be represented.

Eight or ten hours will be given over to the discussion of the Bible, each session lasting one hour.

A. Bruce Curry will be leader of the discussions. Dr. Curry studied at Princeton and Columbia and became a Doctor of Philosophy. He was for several years a professor in Biblical Seminary, New York City, and taught in Dr. Fosdick's stead at Union Theological Seminary last year while the latter was in Europe.

His method is a short introductory lecture, then at least three quarters of the time given to open discussion all through the eight or ten hours of intensive study of selected passages of the New Testament.

Boots! Boots! Boots!

Who said the boys are the only ones privileged to wear boots?

A number of college girls defied the laws of custom, and thoroughly shocked old Mrs. Grundy last week when it rained, by hauling out their hiking boots and wearing them to school.

DEBATE TEAMS MAKE LAST BOW IN FINAL CONTESTS WITH TROJANS

JAMES WALKER AND HENDRIK VAN RENSSELAER WILL UPHOLD THE AFFIRMATIVE OF MUSSOLINI QUESTION

Is Mussolini a benefactor to Italy? "Yes," will be the answer when James Walker and Hendrik Van Rensselaer encounter the U. S. C. word warriors in a verbal tilt that is to be held in the Santa Ana high school auditorium Wednesday evening, March 9.

Class Goes to Jail

The sociology class goes to jail! No foolin'. The whole class was incarcerated in a body at 12:00 m., Tuesday.

But, sad to relate, they were all released again, for they were merely making a tour of inspection of the building in connection with their current study of the subject of crime. Lyle Cook, our famous "contact man", made the arrangements for the visit with Orlo Moncreif, county jailer. The class was accompanied by Professor Nealley who pointed out to them interesting comparisons and proposed remedies.

Grace Wood Jess Is On Program

Grace Wood Jess will appear on P. T. A. program in the auditorium Friday evening, presenting folk songs from many countries.

Miss Jess is an artist who has delighted many audiences with her interpretations. An additional feature of her program is the quaint costumes she wears for each number.

W. A. A. Executive Names Two Class Representatives

Judy Cummings and Enid Twist were named freshman and sophomore representatives at the first regular meeting of the executive board of the W. A. A. last week.

It was decided that the awards be as follows: the large block "S" to be won after 600 points had been attained, and a small old English, or other type, "S" for making the first team in any sport.

Only one letter will be given as a sport letter and some insignia will be on it designating the number of sports or years.

In order to win either letter regular attendance at practice is necessary.

Play day will be held April 30 and the following sports will be listed: hockey, baseball, swimming and possibly tennis.

Figuring in the return clash with U. S. C. next Friday in Los Angeles, Edward Riniker and Dean Cowley will uphold the negative on the same question.

These two debates will probably bring to a close the season for debating. Interest is now being transferred from debating to the spring oratorical contest.

Santa Ana college stands a chance of winning both of these debates, due to the untiring efforts of the participants and C. C. Stewart, debating coach.

Since the Fascist question under Mussolini's distatorship is a subject for popular discussion at present, a large crowd is expected to witness the debate.

The U. S. C.-Stanford debate on the same question was witnessed by James Walker, Hendrik Van Rensselaer, Dean Cowley, Edward Riniker, and Mr. And Mrs. Stewart.

The decision for the U. S. C.-Stanford debate was made by the audience.

Champion Orator Gives Address In Santa Ana

Herbert Wenig, Winner of National Oratorical Contest Is Heard

Herbert Wenig, formerly of Hollywood high, and now a freshman at Stanford, the winner of last year's constitutional oratory contest, gave his championship address at last week's high school assembly.

Many college students and the general public took advantage of the opportunity to hear the boy who triumphed over 1,800,000 opponents.

Wenig has just returned from a tour of the United States during which he has given his oration at many cities. He was brought to Santa Ana through the efforts of C. C. Stewart.

BUDGET IS CHANGED AT BOARD MEETING

The budget was rearranged by the board of control by removing $200 from the Don fund to other departments. The decision was made at last Monday's meeting.

This action was thought necessary in order for the men's athletics, particularly, to have a margin to work with.

The division of funds as it was worked out by the board is:-
Algal, 30 percent, $60.00
Social, 14.4 percent, $28.80
Men's Athletics 55.6 percent, $111.20

The departments of forensics, women's athletics, and miscellaneous were not considered in the division and their share was applied to men's athletics.

We Have A Trophy

WE HAVE a trophy and no place to put it. A sad state of affairs surely.

Just now it is in the Administration office, resting on top of one cabinet or another, wherever it is least in the way.

We need a trophy cabinet to show our cups in. What tho we have only one as yet, our collection will grow. We may as well be prepared now as later. And why not show off to the best advantage that which we do possess.

Perhaps more symbols of victory might be discovered in hidden corners if a little attention were given to the matter.

As to how a trophy case might be obtained—We believe it has never been the custom here-to-fore for the graduating class to present the school with a parting token. Since classes in the past have been for the most part small in number, the burden of a gift would have been great. But this year, there are approximately sixty graduates. A gift would not be too great a drain on their resources, and if they do decide in favor of the question, a trophy case would be an appreciated remembrance.

Edward M. Nealley

A Biography

Were a history of the Santa Ana junior college to be given, it would not be complete without an account of Edward M. Nealley, teacher of philosophy, sociology, logic, and psychology. But we will not begin with his teaching in the junior college. We shall go back to the time he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in the State University of Iowa, majoring in philosophy.

After graduating Mr. Nealley worked in a law office in Burlington, Iowa, for three years as a stenographer. While working here he became interested in law and decided to make it his profession. After completing his law course at the University of Iowa, he practiced in Burlington for five years.

During these five years he became interested in sociology. While practicing law, he gave a series of lectures for three years, two months each year at Grinnell college in Iowa. It was at this college that he was elected to full professorship in sociology. Mr. Nealley was later sent to London by Grinnell college to study social movements. When he returned home he resumed his law practice once again but on account of his health was forced to discontinue it. After another trip to Europe he took a post graduate course in philosophy at the University of Chicago. Mr. Nealley moved to Tustin, California, where he ranched from 1913 to 1917.

The junior college opened in 1915. In December 1916 Mr. Nealley applied for a position to teach. It being granted, he began to teach Feb. 5, 1917. At this time he taught sociology, economics, psychology, and logic.

Mr. Nealley says that the junior college is the solution for the over attendance of colleges, that, in time, there will be a junior college in every county with the large universities limited to post graduate and research work.

Mr. Nealley is perfectly satisfied with his profession and claims that he "will teach until he is too old to teach anymore."

THE LOVE NEST

Dear Readers—

If there is any advice which I should give to my correspondents it is this which I am about to impart. Only last week and my word might have stood against the world as one of authority in this great subject now by my failure it may seem that I have lost. I have not lost, but she has. In reality I gained, but she is a gross loser.

Girls threatened me so long on every hand that in fairness to all, because of my great sex appeal, I have agreed to share with that sex which I love every possible moment of my Platonic emotion.

Here is a letter from a troubled soul who has not yet found herself in this maelstrom of sensory activity.

Dear Uncle Goddard—

I am sixteen years of age. My mother did not allow me to go out with boys until I was twelve. Now I am engaged to a man of eighteen. Do you think I am too old to really enjoy such a youthful adventure?

Here is a problem. I am leaving it for my readers to decide. Make your answers in care of Uncle Goddard and we will let the decision of the multitude be the guide for this troubled heart.

I have a letter which asks a personal question about myself. I will not answer such letters publicly. You must include self addressed, stamped-envelopes. If she wants to know, I'll tell her alone.

Old Dobin's position on the campus was jeopardized by the demonstration of a moto-mower yesterday. Probably the decision of the gardeners by the fact that they may sit in comfort while directing Dobbins course over the green, while the one cylinder gas engine only pulls the lawn mower.

Athlete, Sheik, Scholar—
What Have You?

Jerry Rogers

Orest Cianfoni

Jimmie Smith

What type of man does the college girl prefer? Does she like the athlete, the sheik, or the scholar best? And which type does the college man most admire or envy?

That question is often on our tongues, and various hazards have been made as to the maiden's choice, but Santa Ana students have never been given a chance to express themselves on the subject.

It is the athlete who stirs the maiden's heart, and excites the youth's praise? The man who can perform feats of physical skill, excell in gymnasium and in the field, and can win laurels for himself and his school by snatching victory out of the hands of the opposing team?

Jerry Rogers here represents the athletic type.

Or is it the well-dressed, lithe, attractive fellow who is a whiz on a dance floor, and a demon on the "sax" or banjo,—the fellow who can throw a good line, who is always out for a good time? Sheik, or high stepper, they call him. He is the type that Orest Cianfoni represents.

Or does the scholar win the approval of his contemporaries? The scholar is not meant "stude", that peaked book-worm type, but the fellow who is interested in literature, and science, and current affairs. The fellow to whom school is no grind, but a pleasure. The fellow who likes debating, and forensics, and such. Jimmie Smith is representative of this type.

What is your choice?

PERSONALS

Last week a personal of catty nature appeared in the Don thru an oversight of the editor. We feel assured that no slight was intended, for the occasion was not the experience of one person only—many people found themselves short of change when the collection was sprung on them. But since the item threw the wrong light on the matter, we extend our apologies to Everett Trostel, and trust that he will not take the matter too seriously.

Influenza has kept many of the teachers and pupils out of school the last few weeks. Miss Donaldson was absent the latter three days of last week.

Miss Lasby had a bad attack of laryngitis. While at school she was only able to give examinations so decided to take a few days off.

"Through Many Windows"

A Review

Did you ever stop to think how recently it was when the only gingham procurable was checked? Of course one could always buy expensive Scotch plaid gingham but most people wore small checks summer after summer. Helen Woodward, in her biography, "Through Many Windows", tells the fascinating story of how the thousands of different patterns in gingham were first introduced to American women.

An instance of the hoax in advertising is the tale of how a well-known brand of cosmetics was sold at prohibitive prices. "Each year," the ad reads, "Madame goes to France and buys strawberries with which to concoct her marvelous creams. On the ship, returning home, she mixes these with fresh cream and the result is Madame's contribution to the beauty of American women." Mrs. Woodward tells us that anyone with any sense should know that such a combination would be rancid in a week. But the idea appealed to women as the huge sales of the article show.

Dr. Eliot's Five-Foot book shelf is cited as the only instance in which a scholar has reaped a harvest from a highly advertised commodity. Dr. Eliot chose the books, personally endorsed the idea, and contributed a small amount of capital. He made a fortune from dividends.

One of the most interesting things in the books is the story of how illustrations are used to sell articles which type "take" with the public and which ones fail. The psychology of advertising is one of the most interesting studies in the world, illustrating perhaps better than anything else the caprice of the human mind.

New Officers Chosen For Forum Group

James Walker was elected president of the Forum Club when it met for the regular discussion Wednesday evening. Myrtle Ketchum was elected the new secretary.

Mr. Stewart spoke very interestingly on the Associated Press and modern newspapers, and later led a discussion on that subject.

The next meeting, which will be held Wednesday, March 16, will be an open meeting to be lead by Mr. Bowling.

The topic for discussion will probably be the moving picture of today or religion.

Salesmanship Is Discussed Before Class

Mr. Rudd, Orange county agent for National Cash Register was the speaker for the vocational information class last Wednesday. "Specialization in Salesmanship" was his topic. Salesmanship was discussed from all angles for the benefit of those wishing to learn the trade.

Salesman should appeal thru the eye, and not through the mind.

Mr. Rudd said some very interesting things concerning intelligence. Intelligence is taught through the mind, at school, and at a school of salesmanship the knowledge method is used—that is to draw out through the eye.

The cash register salesmen are given a trial for three months on a salary basis, and if they prove their worth, they are sent back to the salesman school for six months, and are ready to start on their career. as a salesman.

Miss Helen Price, the field secretary of Asilomar division, was expected to address the Y. W. at their last meeting last night. Miss Price has visited junior college the last two days and was entertained by the Y. W. Monday night.

Mrs. Gray also was scheduled to speak to the girls. She has just returned from China so she is able to give a vivid account of her experiences there.

Parents Want One Way Traffic as Safety Measure

Parents are urging one way traffic between Ross and Parton on Pine street (where the street passed thru the school grounds) and more boulevard stops on surrounding intersections to offer more protection to the students.

The action, started by the Parent-Teachers association is to be taken up with the city council, in an endeavor to put thru the measure.

Arcades between the buildings are also advocated by the association.

Chewing tobacco, Clarence Trickey, he of the rosy cheeks is entered by the Coty's Rouge concern. They are both beautiful creatures, and are expected to be leading lights in the finals.

Another dark horse will probably be Lawrence Minge, he of the lustrous black eyes, representing the Marine for-the-eye concern. His eyes do not lack feminine admirers who will rally to his support.

Alvin Stauffer and James Smith were tied. They represent Woodbury's Facial and Le Mur Permanent Wave respectively. Alvin certainly is a wonderful example of "the skin you love to touch." Jimmie's lovely looks show no evidence of having been waved. They look quite natural.

Orest Cianfoni; Robert McKean and Dick Ewert are also biding their times. They will come forth in all their glory during the next few days. The most beautiful man will be crowned at the A. W. S. dance as Mr. Santa Ana college. Until the day of closing, excitement reign supreme!

Religion's Place In Life is Topic Discussed at Y. M.

"What is the place of religion in life?" Prof. Nealley discussed this question at the "Y" luncheon last Monday. Then the boys themselves held discussions in three groups under the leadership of Walter Scott, McKee Fisk, and C. C. Stewart.

That everyone has a religion of some kind or other was brought out in the discussions. The purpose of religion is to form a background for life.

This was the first of a series of discussions that will be conducted in the "Y" meetings. Instead of listening to the experiences of fortunate men, the boys are going to try to thrash out their own problems.

Laguna Artists Have Exhibit in Y Campus Hut

A most interesting exhibit of oil paintings is hung in the "Hut" for a period of two weeks. The Parent-Teachers' association is sponsoring the event through the courtesy of the Laguna Beach Art association.

The subjects taken in these pictures include many still life studies, with gay flowers predominating. A rather blatant study of a turkey probably attracted more attention than the less striking studies did.

One of the most beautiful pictures is a lovely study of the sea off the Laguna coast, the rocks blending delightfully with the white caps and blue surface of the water.

The exhibit is open to the public and is well worth a trip out to the "hut."

Bachelors Give Classic Dramas In Assembly

The Brotherhood of Bachelors' assembly of Wednesday was, according to reports gathered, an affair that will be remembered as one of the most educational meetings of the semester.

The bachelors' chorus sang two southern melodies and Miss Sarah Hales, assisted by Bob Thompson, gave several popular song hits. The third number was a leg show. Tragedies were presented. The first consisted of the eternal triangle, and three revolver shots, the last blank shot killing L. H. Minge, the irate husband who could not stand to see another man fooled by his wife (Hendrik Van Rensselaer). The other man was K. Schroll.

The second attempt at drama was the death scene of Cleopatra. The exotic Hendrik Van Rensselaer "doing" the part of the far famed flapper with L. H. Minge as Mark Antony.

The climax of the play came when Van fished out his "asp", which wriggled realistically, and thrust it into his bodice.

Spare Stockings

Creators of fashion for the fair sex, being ever on the alert to the demands of milady, are offering something new in the matter of hose. Instead of hose being sold in pairs they will be sold in threes. In other words, there will be a spare stocking, to be used in case of emergency.

The plan will work out the same as a spare tire for automobiles—the spare will be carried in a hand-bag and should anything happen while a shopping tour is being made, the victim has but to slip in a rest-room, telephone booth, or what have you, and replace the torn stocking with the spare.

The triple stocking idea hasn't hit Santa Ana yet but it will be welcomed when it does, according to expressions of numerous flappers and others interviewed regarding it.

In addition to providing the holder with safety, manufactureres claim that the new idea will prove economical because one hose of a pair usually outwears the other.

"It is a clever idea," says one J. C. co-ed, "but its usefulness depends on whether or not you wear out one stocking before the other."

SPORTS

SPORT SHORTS

The conference track meet, April 2, should see a number of records go by the boards after a look over some of the various candidates in the conference.

First among them should be the discus record. Stocks of Pasadena, Patton of Riverside, and Reinhardt of Santa Ana have tossed the platter several feet farther than the record and will put on quite a duel for first place in the big meet.

Both Stocks and Patton have had all kinds of experience while Reinhardt is new at the game, but has plenty of natural ability and for "Tiny" also appears to do his best when in competition.

Another dangerous competitor for this trio is Claypool of Chaffey. In a recent meet he was high point man with good marks in the discus and javelin.

The javelin and shot records also appear to be doomed with Patton, Claypool, and Lloyd Morris of Santa Ana hovering close to 160 feet in the former and well over 38 feet in the latter. The present mark of 155 feet in the spear throwing contest is not expected to last long in the meet. Morris held the shot record two years ago and is back to re-establish one after Disbrow broke his mark by a few inches last year.

Pasadena should cut into the distance and middle distance events' scoring after the cross-country exhibition last December showed them to have a good number of distance men. Five men placed ninth or better out of thirteen contestants.

Tennis Matches To Be Played Off

The tennis tournament that was scheduled with Whittier for Saturday afternoon had to be postponed on account of rain. It will probably be held a week from Saturday.

None of the men played off the matches that were assigned for last week. The purpose of these matches among tennis players of the college is to determine the standing of each man on the team, and also to provide practice.

There are two tournaments coming up this week. The first one is with S. A. H. S. Thursday afternoon. The other tentative tournament is with Southwestern University at Santa Ana Saturday afternoon.

PIRATES TANGLE WITH DON CINDER- PATH ARTISTS ON SATURDAY

Harris' Men Conceded Even Break With Visitors
Outcome May Depend On Relay.

Don tracksters have been working hard and will be in good shape to tackle the crew of Pirates from Pasadena Saturday. This meet is expected to be the hardest on the conference schedule.

The Pirates appear to have a well balanced team with several individual stars, a combination hard to beat. McGinnis, who won the cross-country event from Grisct, will be out to repeat his performance in the two mile, but unless "Greenville" sprains another ankle, the Pirate man should be hard pressed.

Caines, a 10.1 sprinter, will probably win his two sprinting events without being pushed by any Don sprinters, although Twist and Miner may garner seconds and thirds.

McIntire and McKean are counted in for points in the quarter and half but will meet strong competition from several Pasadena middle distance men. Field and Gordon will enter the mile and two mile respectively and are counted on for points.

Slick Stocks, versatile Pirate performer, will meet strong opposition from Reinhardt and Morris in the discus and shot, but is in a class by himself in the low hurdles.

The teams will be evenly matched and the final decision may depend on the relay. This is a new one for the season, having been changed to a four man mile instead of a medley.

The meet is scheduled to come off at 2:30 Saturday at Santa Ana.

Ed Settle laments the result of the compliment given on the Bachelors' Bulletin to the dimpled knees which shined at the hard times party. It seems to have turned their heads, or rather their socks. Some Donas took the first opportunity offered by a shower, which made boots in order, to put on another show.

The question has come up again among the members of the fair sex. "Who to ask to the dance?" Why not wait until after the beauty contest is over and then pick the fortunate shiek?

Ed Settle's party Friday night turned out to be a swimming party, according to Lois Green. (Meaning it was all wet?)

Co-eds want men who blush?—That is what Winthrop Gordon proved to the public speaking class last Friday by the use of documentary evidence.

Lawrence Minge in meeting: This dance is to be a hard time dance and it will be held in the gym. Is there any thing else to be carried out?

The meeting: "Minge."

FIVE LETTERMEN RETURN FOR BASEBALL

Looking over the baseball prospects for the coming season, it appears that Santa Ana will not lack material for the 1927 nine. Five lettermen are back while new freshmen candidates, and substitutes from last year will help swell the total.

The lettermen returning are: Craf fee, pitcher, Van Rensselaer, catcher, Geren, first base, Harter and Harbert, outfield. With half of last year's squad reporting, an experienced team should be developed.

Among the freshmen slated to report are: Poe, Fitz, McMillan, Cowley, Stewart, and Martin. Substitutes from the 1926 squad are Labrucherie and Grisct.

Third place was obtained in the conference last year after a small number of candidates enrolled for the team. With a larger squad, more experienced men, and stronger competition for places, a much better showing is looked forward to.

The Y.M.-Y.W. student conference will be held this year at Whittier, March 19, 1926 Whittier College, La Verne, University of Redlands and all of the junior colleges of south-

He Learned From Others

A business man who has been more than ordinarily successful, was asked to sum up, briefly, the reasons for his success.

His reply was: "Combined experience. Any individual's experience is necessarily limited. I have frequently found other men's experience more valuable to me than my own."

The First National's great service is the combined experience of many bankers.
